"What is a human rights approach?"

Noah Bullock
Executive Director, Cristosal

As we near the 70th anniversary of the UN Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the term "human rights" has become widely diffused around the world.

But what does it really mean to take a "human rights approach" to our work, our advocacy, even our own education?

Noah Bullock arrived in El Salvador in 2005 as a recent college graduate and five years later became the Executive Director of Cristosal, an NGO dedicated to advancing human rights in Central America. Noah will discuss his experience applying human rights theory in the field, as well as the current migration crisis in Central America.
