Have you been transformed by the opportunity to study as an international student here at Tulane or abroad? What lessons have you learned? Who did you meet along the way? How did that experience make you see the world differently?

Come to the Global Café during International Education Week (October 15-19) to share why International Exchange matters to you. Claire Bangser, the visual artist behind NOLABeings, will be at the Global Café to capture the impact of international exchange on the Tulane community. Come show your support by taking a photo and/or sharing a story with Claire!
